Seminar Details

On 30 June 2006, Govan Law Centre's Education Law Unit brought Scotland's first Court action under the ASL Act to a successful conclusion. This serves to underline the fact that, as the Act begins to take effect, the number of parental challenges is rising. This seminar will explore what goes into a successful challenge, and what authorities can do to avoid them. It will be delivered by those with experience of bringing and resolving disputes under the Act: solicitors, mediators, advocates and decision makers.

Provisional Programme

- 9.30am Registration and Introduction
- 10.00 Home vs. Host Authorities: Who Pays?
- 10.30 Independent Adjudication (and other ways for parents to get what they want!)
- 11.00 Break
- 11.30 Section 30: Records of Needs still biting
- Noon LUNCH
- 1.00 Placing Requests for Expensive Schools
- 1.45 Mediation: solving problems face to face
- 2.30 Disability Equality Duties for Schools; December 2006—are you ready?
